WINTER RELIEF 2024 / 25

This Winter...

This winter will be different for many across the globe. Newly displaced people will be living in tents - their only form of shelter - with snow and harsh winds constantly threatening to cause damage. Many refugees will be living in overcrowded, enclosed camps, forced to worry about the bitter cold among every other challenge they face. Innocent children won't be able to feel the warmth of their favourite blankets or cuddly toys they left behind at home. With millions displaced this year, millions of winters will be unfamiliar.

Yet for many others, winter will remain the same as last year. Temperatures dropping below zero degrees at night. The risk of illness a constant threat. Livelihoods disrupted and income reduced – especially those reliant on agriculture. A lack of food and water as a result. The same struggles as last year.

This winter, people will suffer greatly. But we have the opportunity to take some of that suffering away.

Comfort For Every Community

Global Rahmah Foundation is on the ground in various countries across the globe, providing aid to the most vulnerable communities. During these cold days and dark nights, we are here to provide essential supplies to ease the suffering of people in need. This includes those in ongoing conflict such as people in Gaza, Yemen, Lebanon and Sudan, as well as refugees living in camps like those in Cox's Bazaar (Bangladesh), Chad and Jordan, who are reliant on humanitarian aid.

Harsh weather conditions are not only an inconvenience – for some, they are fatal. Many people around the world live without the means to protect themselves from this weather, falling victim to the challenges it brings, Some have no blankets or mattresses so are forced to sleep on the floor; food is scarce so many go without; others have no electricity so heating is a luxury they do not get to receive.

Your donations can provide the warmth, safety and protection so many urgently need.

Across these three countries, millions of refugees and internally displaced people (in Yemen and Sudan) have had no choice but to flee their homes – their safe spaces – with many now residing in makeshift tents, no doubt an indescribably difficult transition. During the winter, tents can easily be damaged, adding to this trauma. This leaves vulnerable people with no roof over their heads for a second time. GRF is providing shelters to protect refugees and internally displaced people, shielding individuals and their tents from the rain and strong winds.

These shelters help provide essential protection and security.

EMERGENCY WINTER APPEAL: Palestine (Gaza)

Your compassion can save a life this winter.

Over 2 million people in Gaza are experiencing immense suffering. This winter, dropping temperatures and strong winds threaten to make matters much worse. People are already reliant on food and water aid, but in winter, they also need thermal clothing and shoes to stay warm and protected from illnesses such as pneumonia. Families need blankets and mattresses to stay covered during the night; babies urgently need milk and nappies; people are in dire need of shelter. With the healthcare system already experiencing unimaginable amounts of strain, the harsh weather can intensify existing health concerns. The extreme lack of hygiene facilities makes the population of Gaza even more vulnerable to the spread of illness during winter.

1.9 Million displaced.

1.84 Million experiencing critical levels of acute food insecurity.

Famine imminent in the North of Gaza.

Polio has re-emerged in Gaza after 25 years, due to unsanitary water.

Over 50% live below the poverty line.

1.5 Million refugees.

400,000 Children at risk of waterborne diseases.

500 Public Schools being used as collective shelters.

The conflict has exacerbated the struggles of those already vulnerable. Over 2,500 people have been killed and over 1 million have been displaced from their homes. People have had to leave behind everything they own in search of safety for themselves and their families, including clothes, shoes and any other form of physical protection. In these new surroundings, many families find it alarmingly difficult to obtain essential food supplies, with several living in small tents. Families in Lebanon were already facing significant challenges due to high inflation rates and ongoing economic hardships, making it difficult to afford essential items. Due to the conflict, this has been intensified.

SUPPORT SYRIAN & PALESTINIAN REFUGEES

Your generosity can help take the burden away.

Over 2.6 million Syrian and Palestinian refugees live in Jordan. Among them, several have restricted access to electricity and families have limited availability to resources such as blankets. These concerns are present all year round but are amplified in winter. The lack of electricity and heating leaves people struggling to sleep comfortably during the night and limited resources means a family may have no choice but to share winter items like a single blanket among themselves. Families also become prone to illnesses – another worry they must carry with them during the difficult winter months.
